FaceTime is an Apple app that can only be used with iPhones, iPods, iPads, and Mac Computers. If you have one of these products you will have the app already on your device.

To be able to call you need internet access and the telephone number or email address of the person you would like to contact. (and that person needs to have an iPhone, iPod, iPad or Mac)

Open the app, tap the plus (+) sign and put in the contact's number or email. You can also go to your Contacts app to choose the person you want to FaceTime with and use the FaceTime application from there. Facetime lets you make voice calls and video calls.
